

Abstract

The present invention describes an all digital phase locked loop utilizing a numerically controlled oscillator instead of a voltage controlled oscillator, and in a certain embodiment employs a phase digitizer as part of the phase detector.